Cowlitz County: boil-water advisory ends for Carrolls water customers

OLYMPIA — Customers of Carrolls Water Association in southeast Cowlitz County don't have to boil their drinking water any longer. Lab tests show the association's water meets safe drinking water standards.

The association issued a boil-water advisory on December 19 after the system had low water pressure and samples tested positive for E. coli bacteria.

The Department of Health is working closely with the association's board, engineer, and water system operator to address long-term water supply and water quality needs.

The Carrolls Water Association serves 176 homes, an elementary school, and a country store. Customers with questions about their water may call Columbia Technical LLC, 360-281-2650.
